Well-Child Visits Can Help Your Child Grow Up Healthy

Dear Parent/Guardian of <<<<Member First and Last Name>>>>>

Scheduling regular well-child visits will help your child get the care he or she needs to be healthy.

Pediatricians recommend that children have well-child visits on a set schedule:

- 3 days to 1 week old
- 1 month to under 5 weeks old
- 2 months
- 4 months
- 6 months
- 9 months
- 12 months
- 15 months
- 18 months
- 24 months
- 30 months
- Once each year through 20 years of age

During a well-child visit your child's doctor will:

- Check physical and mental development
- Perform screenings, including hearing and vision
- Check your child's mouth and teeth
- Order lab work based on your child's age, health and environment, including lead screening
- Diagnose possible conditions that need more tests
- Answer any questions you have

The doctor will give any needed shots (immunizations) to protect your child against serious diseases. Please review the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's (CDC) recommended schedule at cdc.gov/vaccines/schedules/hcp/child-child.html.
